

AQA GCSE French

Why should I study GCSE French?

GCSE French is a Component of the English Baccalaureate. You should consider this GCSE if you have a passion for French and want a language qualification on your CV.

What will I study?

The area for study is based on the young person in society and how to manage a contact with a French speaking person:

Identity and culture (relationships with family and friends, technology, free-time activities, customs and festivals in French-speaking countries and communities)

Local, national, international and global areas of interest (home, town, neighbourhood and region, social issues, global issues, travel and tourism)

Current and future study and employment (studies, life at school and at college, post-16 education, jobs, career choices and ambitions)

How will I be assessed?

Unit 1: Listening to passages in French and responding to questions in English and French 25% EXAM

Unit 2: Communicating and speaking for a variety of purposes 25% EXAM

Unit 3: Reading tasks to include understanding of tense changes, a wide range of vocabulary and longer text 25% EXAM

Unit 4: Communicating effectively in writing for a variety of purposes 25% EXAM

Which skills will I develop and use?

Listening to French and understanding

Reading French and understanding

Speaking clearly in French

Writing to an understandable level in French

Application of rules of Grammar – changing verbs into the past, present and future tenses

How will I be able to use this subject in my future career?

The study of GCSE French could lead to A Level French; University;

Work in travel and tourism; international business, law or journalism. GCSE French will give you opportunities to communicate with other people in other countries on the telephone at work. This can lead to higher salaries and opportunities to travel.